INVITATION

"Foreign Investment in China & Shanghai: new government policies, issues and opportunities"

NORTH Link/NIETL and the Centre for China Studies at La Trobe University have great pleasure in inviting you to a special briefing by Dr Yejing Huang. Currently conducting research in Australia, Dr Huang is an expert analyst on Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) into China and adviser to the Chinese government on issues relating to business foreign investment in China.

Dr Yejing Huang is based at the Centre for China Studies and her presentation will provide some very special insights on FDI in China and is:

- An adviser to the Chinese government on FDI
- Associate research professor, Institute of World Economy, Shanghai Academy of Social Science
- Researching foreign direct investments in China and China's policies in relation to such investments.

The policy settings for Foreign Direct Investments (FDI) in China are changing rapidly in order to more readily accommodate the enormous economic growth that is happening.

Dr Huang will explain and highlight these changes; the new rules and regulations that are emerging in order to accommodate the needs of China's daily changing economic environment and the potential opportunities for FDI.

The presentation will specifically focus on investment in Shanghai, the largest and fastest growing area in China's economy.

Attendance will be strictly limited to 20 people only.
