

Foodservice Forum

Tuesday 20 October 2009

Sustainability and the Impact of a Carbon Footprint in the Foodservice Industry

The presentations will provide valuable information together with member case studies showing the transition for implementing change and discussion within your business at all levels. Our presenters will also provide guidance with key objectives on how to start and understand the process that will affect all businesses in all sectors.

Who should attend: environmental and sustainability managers, national foodservice / state & sales managers and your sales team, general managers, advertising and media partners, marketing and development teams, plant managers. Everyone is welcome.

Speaker: Leigh Bernoth, Sustainability Victoria

Leigh has more than fifteen years experience working with business and government developing sustainability concepts and following through with implementation. Leigh's role with SV is Manager of the Sustainable Business team, where he manages a team delivering partnership and support programs for business and industry in Victoria.

Speaker: Liam Henderson, VECCI

Liam is a Business Support Officer with VECCI's business sustainability program Grow Me The Money, specialising in energy and carbon issues. Liam has an in-depth understanding of business sustainability issues and extensive knowledge in the areas of organisational change, energy efficiency and carbon management – he is by his own admission an "eco-geek".

Member Case Study: Jennifer Williams, Corporate Express

Jennifer Williams is the Corporate Social Responsibility Manager for Corporate Express Australia and has been with the Company for 10 years in USA, UK and now Australia. In this role, Jennifer develops and promotes Corporate Express' Sustainable Supply Chain customer strategy and drives policy, procedures and initiatives for all areas of CSR. Corporate Express was the winner of Sustainable Company of the Year (Ethical Investor 2008 Awards)

Member Case Study: Mark Thomas, Delaware North Companies

Mark Thomas is the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Manager for Delaware North Companies Australia. Mark's role is to develop a meaningful CSR program for the company covering five critical aspects – People, Environment, Community, Customers and Suppliers. He is also responsible for the implementation of a comprehensive Environmental Management Plan across the business – covering more than 30 locations in Australia and New Zealand.
